Dragons, Nagas, and Creatures of the Deep

February 3, 2012 through January 6, 2013

Welcoming 2012 as the East Asian calendar's Year of the Dragon, Dragons, Nagas, and Creatures of the Deep presents a global selection of textiles depicting dragons and other fantastical creatures of legend. Across the world and over the centuries, dragons have taken many forms, from the beneficent nagas (divine snakes) of East and Southeast Asia, to the fearsome flying beasts of Western traditions. Whether viewed as good or evil, these powerful creatures became symbols of prestige for those who were permitted to use their images to decorate clothes and furnishings.

Drawn entirely from the museum's collection, the textiles in this exhibition illuminate imaginative images of mythical creatures as diverse as the peoples who created them.

Meeting Minutes

September 10, 2012

Exchequer: We currently have $ 11576.06 in our account.

We have no outstanding checks, but we need to pay for the truck for Pennsic.

A&S – Battle of the Bay is coming up. Competitions, classes and displays have been listed online. I can hook you up with the teachers if you are interested in a class. Some of the schedule will have to change.

Combo night- is scheduled for September 12th/ October

Dances are being set up for the 12th night Queen of Hearts ball.

I'll be getting out information about A&S for Midwinter's

Performing arts area will be set up at 12th night as well.

MOL - nothing to report

Webminister - not present – no report

Chatelaine – I did speak to someone at Pennsic about stepping up as deputy. I'm more organized with my emails and sent out contacts to people whose addresses I have to remind them about upcoming activities.

Going to check with Kendra about battle of the Bay newcomers table.

I've left a message for the Laurel Main street festival folks.

Herald – I have several items to be forwarded to Kingdom.

Knight Marshal – We are back inside the school- attendance for rapier last week was 10-12 and 6 heavy fighters. William the Younger came up and taught the youth marshal class so we should see some youth fighting at our practices.
Donations helped cover some of the cost – still receiving donations for practice site. Demo coming up in a few weeks.

Archery Marshall - practices up to 14 people depending on heat and weather.
Dun Carraig won the Lochmere arrow.
Our baronial champion shot at the event. Her Excellency attended as well.

Thrown weapons – there will be thrown weapons at Battle of the Bay. All reposts are going in.

Chirurgeon – not present - nothing to report

Chamberlain - not present- if you are using baronial equipment for this event please notify her if you take things in and out.

Head Retainer - Avice- not present - - she needs help with hospitality at upcoming events.

Baron and Baroness – Coronation, WOW and 12th night are the events we plan to attend. Bran is planning an amazing 12th night with lots of room for all kinds of activities. We really want to encourage you to attend, as it will be an awesome event.
Countess Aryanna – donations to 12th night are being taken to help offset the costs of the event and lower the total cost for attendees. We want to see fewer events of higher quality and encourage everyone to attend it will be a great event. War of the Wings – if you are camping, there is not a Lochmere group planned at this time. Everyone seems to have camping plans. We will be supporting Marinus this time. We had a few people on the field at Pennsic. I would have liked to see more.

Seneschal - I will be here in October to reserve the other dates for us. October 1
I can't stress enough how important it is to put information out there often and have a great theme when autocrating an event.

Demo light - Sept 23 noon to 5 in Pavilion 3 at Centennial park, Garb is optional- bring A&S bring food and turn out to attract new members. Santiago is supposed contact the park ranger to make sure there is not a problem with fighting that day and that the ranger knows.

Pennsic - we had a beautiful camp everything looked great. One change for next year- we will have camp apprentices.

Simone expressed concern about using facebook vs posting to Lochmere list.

Upcoming Events

Battle on the Bay: Countess Aryanna – this weekend
Reynard is cooking – could use help in the kitchen Thursday night/ Friday night at my house. Gabe is in charge of waterbearing. Avice is Mol.

Friday- Christian is organizing pavilions – he plans to arrive around noon and needs help around 3 to start setting tents up. Please come out and help.
 Medb is in charge of royal hospitality. Gwen will organize Baronial hospitality.
 Need someone to go pick up hay bales on Friday.
 Clean up help needed as well for Saturday and Sunday
 Remember this is our event as well and we need to be out in force to help with everything.
 Royal court at 11:30

Galmyr: I want to remind folks that this is our event. We need to be there to help and to fill in as needed.

Midwinter Revel: Maddy- things are going well. Budget has been submitted to financial committee. Audition timing will be announced very soon.

Night out of Town: Alric - rapier folks are talking about it already. Easter weekend.
 On target spiked for June 14-16th and we have a site.

EVENT ANNOUNCEMENTS

Battle on the Bay - Storvik/Lochmere Baronial Birthdays

September 14- 16, 2012
Barony of Storvik

The Aztec Empire was vast and powerful and claimed as its capital Tenochtitlan, one of the largest cities in the world at the time. Nonetheless, within two years a small force of Spaniards successfully combined with a confederation of villages to bring the empire to its knees. Join the baronies of Lochmere and Storvik to see if history repeats itself.

The fighting, as in years past, will be a melee campaign in which the outcome of a scenario influences the types of scenarios that follow. This year there will be a unique twist aimed at replicating the peculiar conditions in Meso-America during the conquest. There will be two teams: Aztecs versus Spaniards/Tlaxcala Confederacy. Each team will be represented on both heavy and rapier fields. Fighters who are authorized on both lists may move back and forth between the different formats. If your team really needs to win a rapier scenario, then your general can send crossover fighters to the rapier list, knowing that his team will have a more difficult time winning on the heavy field. In other words, what happens on the armored field will influence what happens on the rapier field, and vice versa.

In addition to armored and rapier combat, there will be target archery and youth combat. In years past it has been an extraordinarily well attended event with large melee teams, so bring your households and plan on a great time! Questions about the fighting and format should be directed to the Marshal-in-Charge, Chevalier Joselin d'outremer at joselindoutremer\(at\)gmail.comgmail.com).

Coronation of Vladimir and Kalisa

October 05- 07, 2012
Barony of Tir-y-Don

Darkness looms in Atlantia, as the time for a new Tzar has come. Sadly for the people, transitions of power at this time are rarely peaceful. The next in line for the Throne is not clear cut. Factions maneuver trying to gain support for their candidates. Nobles, families, and even entire cities line up behind the banners of the Great Lords seeking the Crown. The next Tzar could be decided peacefully by a wise council or by the clash of armies.

Martial Activities: Team Bearpit! Heavy: Teams are allowed to be up to 8 people each. From those 8 they send to the field a group of fighters that total 5 points with Knights counting as 2 points each, fighter authorized less than a year are worth 0 points (but only two can take the field at any one time) and all other fighters worth 1 point. Winning team holds the field (up to 3 times) and losers go to the back of the list. Once a team sends a group to the field they cannot change the makeup of the group until they leave the field (either by being defeated or winning three times). Fencing: Same rules as heavy except White Scarves count as 2 points, fighters authorized less than a year are worth 0 points (but only two can take the field at any one time) and all other fighters worth 1 point. Archery: Team archery shoot - details to come. Equestrian: There will be a full Equestrian Demonstration throughout the day.

Arts & Sciences Activities: “Conspicuous Consumption” Competition: Those of 14th century Russia desired to outdo their neighbor with their flare and display of wealth. This competition is all about displaying your wealth on your person. It is open to garb from ANY time or place. Documentation describing your “wealth” is required. Judging will happen during the timeslot chosen during registration.

“Entertainment” for the new Rulers: On this special day in history, there would have been entertainment for the new King and Queen. Present yourself (or your team) for this competition to win the coveted honor or performing at the end of evening court. It can be any “medieval” form of entertainment.

Royal Scrivener: Attention scribes!

The Scrivener Royal is a Kingdom Notable position selected for excellence in the scribal arts, and is expected to be committed to serving with and encouraging others in their art. They also act as the personal scribe to the Crown if needed. The duties of the Royal Scrivener are: The Royal Scrivener must host the next Royal Scrivener competition and make the scroll for winning the competition. That is all that is required. The benefits of being Royal Scrivener are that you are offered the opportunity by the Clerk Signet to choose what scrolls you would like to do for the upcoming awards. Their Royal Majesties may also ask for special scrolls to be completed by the Royal Scrivener. You also have the opportunity to be the lead scribe at any Royal progress events that you are able to attend. The competition will be to complete at least one kingdom, AoA-level BACKLOG scroll. If you wish you may display other scrolls of varying award levels done in a variety styles to showcase your work. No documentation required. The new Scrivener will simply be chosen from amongst the entrants by Their Royal Highnesses, Vladimir and Kalisa, to serve during Their reign. Please contact Mistress Sunniva (sunniva_kyrre(AT)verizon(DOT)net) to confirm backlog availability and if you have any questions. If not able to attend, scrolls can be sent to her for the competition.

Tempore Atlantia: 1492-1600 is this event's time period.

Tempore Poetry: The Poeta Atlantiae is sponsoring a poetry competition at Coronation in connection with Tempore Atlantia. The time frame is 1492-1600. Your poem must be written in a medieval style that was popular from 1492-1600. In addition, it should cover an historic event in Russia during the period 1492-1600. Russian history during this time period is peppered with poetic fodder. Events include the reign of Ivan the Terrible (the first Russian Tsar), the Russo-Turkish War, the Crimean Campaign, the conquest of Siberia, Polish-Lithuanian raids, and the sea-trading blockade carried out by the Swedes, Poles and the Hanseatic League. Ivan himself wrote poetry, was a composer of considerable talent, and supported the arts. His Orthodox liturgical hymn, "Stichiron No. 1 in Honor of St. Peter" and fragments of his letters were put into music in modern times. Sadly, Ivan accidentally killed his son during an argument. Documentation is required. Please indicate the time frame for the style of medieval poetry you used and provide a brief introduction to the story your poem conveys. Other judging criteria and a short form documentation form are provided on the Poeta Website at <http://poeta.atlantia.sca.org/fnc.htm> Of course, we will be delighted to accept your poem even with minimal documentation. There will be a separate judging category for children aged 12 and younger. Judging requirements will be relaxed for children.

Open Display: All are welcome to display their work.

GLOSSARY. afoir, before. guerdoun, reward. auance, advance. ilk, any. ay, ever, always. mekill, much, mickle. but, without. peir, peer. conding, condign, worthy. pouereall, the poor. crynis, diminishes. puissance, power. deid, death. quhilk, who, which. degest, grave. quhome, without whom. dicht, relieve. reid, advice. docht, avails. rois, king. feid, hatred. sanct, saint. fois, time. site, shame. glaiding, happiness. till, to. gloir, glory. tite, quickly. grant, giving. tynis, loses. gre, degree. wicht, person, wight.

Gawain Douglas was a son of the famous Earl of Angus, and was born in Brechin, Scotland, about 1474. He was educated partly at the University of St. Andrews, and partly in Paris. His first considerable poem, "The Palice of Honour," was published in 1501, and dedicated to King James IV. It is an allegory, such as was at that time the staple of poetical composition, and contains but little that is particularly original. Another allegory, printed after his death, is entitled "King Hart," and has for its subject the heart of man. His greatest work is his translation of Virgil's "Æneid" into Scottish verse. In 1509, Douglas was appointed provost of St. Giles, Edinburgh, and after the battle of Flodden he was made abbot of Aberbrothwick. In 1515 he was consecrated Bishop of Dunkeld, but was unable to gain possession of the cathedral except by force. Becoming involved in the feud between the rival families of Angus and Hamilton, he was obliged to escape into England in 1521, where towards the end of the same year he died.
