To the Populace of Lochmere

Greetings Lochmere,

It's been a busy month with much more to come.

Our journey for the last three weeks started at home with Feast of Saint Brigid. The event was wonderful – the singing, the story telling, large A&S display, games, children's activities, all topped off by an amazing feast. Congratulations to the autocrats and all the event staff on a job well done. We enjoyed seeing all of the populace out and about, including some newcomers and recent transplants.

We would like to thank Dona Maria Sangario, Bantiara Shannon, and Lord Brendan for their assistance throughout the day and Magistra Sigrid for working with us on our first full court. Additionally, sometimes the labors of our fellow Lochmeri go unnoticed. We would like to thank Master Reynard for the new poles for the wall hangings. We appreciate hearing from all of you about the good deeds of your fellow Lochmeri.

The following week we journeyed to the Barony Dun Carraig for Winter University, with many other Lochmeri to teach, learn, and/or assist with running the event. Congratulations to all the Lochmeri who received degrees at convocation.

Finally we traveled up to Bright Hills for their Baronial Birthday, on a very cold and blustery day. It was good to see a good number of Lochmeri at the event. We were fortunate to witness a page taken her oath; she was nervous but made it through the ceremony. The day was filled with catching up with those that we may not have seen over the winter months. The drive home after feast was a bit perilous, but well worth the trip.

We enjoyed speaking with Their Highnesses over the last three weeks and hearing about their focus during their reign to include social networking policy and the new rapier peerage. Additionally, if you have any questions about the new peerage, Their Highnesses are happy to answer them.

One, if not both of us will be at the following events:

Kingdom Arts and Science Festival

Tir-Y-Don Baronial Investiture and 40th Birthday

In service to the dream,

Baron Gabrell and Baroness Avice

The Feast of St Brigit Event Report

Unto Your Majesties Michael and Seonaid, King and Queen of Atlantia, Your Highnesses Logan and Esa, Prince and Princess of Atlantia, Your Excellencies Gabrell and Avice, Baron and Baroness of Lochmere, the Atlantian College of Heraldry and Scribes, and the good populace of the Kingdom of Atlantia and the Barony of Lochmere does Sigrid, Partan Pursuivant of the Barony of Lochmere send greetings and well wishes.

It is my honor to bring you this report of the court held by Their Excellencies, Gabrell and Avice, Baron and Baroness Lochmere on the 31st day of January Anno Societas XLIX, being 2015 in the common reckoning, at the Feast of Saint Brigit, Lochmere's Mid-Winter Revel.

The Feast of Saint Brigit was graced with the presence of the heirs of Atlantia, Prince Logan and Princess Esa. In their gracious presence Their Excellencies did open their court.

Their first order of business was to dispense with an obligation they had been charged. Thus they did call forth Dame Dealla Cohen that they could present to her the scroll that had been presented in honor of her carrying the day with her thrown weapons skill at the Siege of Glengary.

Their Excellencies then did call forth Voevoda Kryss Kostarev to attend them. After giving words of praise regarding his excellent leatherwork, They did direct me to read the words as They inducted him into Their Order of the Eagle's Feather.

After joyous vivats from the populace, Voevoda Kryss attempted to rise. He was informed that he had not been given leave to depart. His Excellency then spoke of Lochmere's unofficial Order of the Crab and U-Haul given to those that transport the Barony's goods to and from the Pennsic War. He then did induct Voevoda Kryss into said Order for his service and gave him a token of a crab on a keychain to remember the occasion.

Her Excellency then did require that Herr Segehart Leutmericz attend her in Their court. She spoke of his enduring willingness to be of assistance; that he was always there when needed. She did then grant him her Baroness's Award of Courtesy and a token to remember it by until such time as a badge is determined.

Their Excellencies did then call forth their seneschal, Lady Gwen verch Llwelyn. They wished to charge her with distributing their payments to their officers for their service. Lady Gwen was presented with a box of gold (chocolate) coins. She did first present them to His Highness who did take the box and comment that it was odd that Lochmere would present its taxes to its officers instead of to His Majesty. After a quick explanation that these were not taxes, simply wages, and that Lochmere is ever willing to pay its tithes to Their Majesties, His Highness did graciously return the coins. Lady Gwen did offer coins to Her Highness and then did call forth the officers to receive their pay.

Their Excellencies did then call forth Lady Genevieve Dampier de la Marche. After inquiring if she was still willing to attend them as Their Baronial A&S Champion they did call forth Fru Ragnveig Snorraddottir to thank her for her service this last year. Fru Ragnveig handed over the Baronial favor to Lady Genevieve with good wishes and grateful relief.

As Fru Ragnveig Snorraddottir attempted to take her leave, Their Excellencies did ask her to remain so that they could induct her into their Order of the Eagle's Feather for her amazing works of Viking arts and her support of the arts in the Barony.

Their Excellencies had held a Bardic competition this day to assist them in choosing a Bardic Champion. They called forth Lord Faolán mac Raghnaill and asked if he was willing to serve. He did agree and after being presented with a prize by Lady Scholastica Joycors did take his place of honor at Their Excellencies side.

Their Excellencies did not dismiss Lady Scholastica Joycors and did call forth Baroness Tatiana Ivanovna. Finding that Her Excellency's lap was occupied by a sleeping child, Baroness Avice did order her to stay seated and rose to join her. While there Her Excellency did praise the service provided by these good gentles in support of children's activities and the construction of surcoats for the fighters. She did then induct them both into the Order of the Blasted Oak.

Returning to the thrones, Her Excellency did request that all the children present attend her. She asked after their day and discovering that they had a gift they desired to present to Their Highnesses did grant them leave. The children then presented Their Highnesses with belt favors of a blue Spike on white (and then to the rest of the people in court, including the retainers).

Their Excellencies did then call forth all those for whom this was their first event. After inquiries regarding how they enjoyed their day, His Excellency presented them with a small token to remember the day.

The autocrats, Lady Saige verch Cedwyn and Doña Elena Margarida de la Vega y Serrano, were called forth. They gave thanks to all who had assisted them this day. In particular to Mistress Arianna Morgan for all her assistance mentoring them through the details. Lady Saige then announced the winners of Lochmere's traditional Bag game: 2nd prize to Dame Dealla Cohen and 1st to Master Igor Medvéd. Lady Erennach the Lost of Lochmere was then called in to announce the winners of the day's A&S competitions. Lady Saige requested and was granted leave to depart while Doña Elena was requested to stay. The first competition announced was that of any artistic mode that tied in with the theme of St. Brigit's Day and/or Imbolc. The Novice category was won by some lovely patterned tiles made by Lady Ysabeau ferch Gwalchaved. Bantiarna Shannon inghean Bhriain uí Dhuilleáin won the experienced category with her Viking wire weaving. Mistress Fevronia Murometsa won the Bread and Butter competition with much praise of her Irish Whiskey flavored butter.

Having requested that Doña Elena Margarida de la Vega y Serrano remain in Their court, Their Excellencies were minded to induct her into their Order of the Blasted Oak for her continued service to the Barony.

On that happy note Their Excellencies did close their court.

After three removes of a most excellent feast, Their Excellencies did re-open their court. They called forth the entire kitchen staff; a process of which took some minor wrangling. Their Excellencies were minded to give Lady Lisette la Rouxe their Baronial Award of Excellence for her wonderful feast upon which she has spent so much time. His Highness was also moved to praise her efforts. Their Excellencies gave refreshments to the kitchen crew who then requested that they be excused in order to prepare the dessert course. The request was granted and Their Excellencies did then close their court.

Thus ends my report on the court of Their Excellencies Lochmere at the Feast of St. Brigit. It is accurate to the best of my knowledge.

In Service,
Sigrid, Partan

Arts & Sciences Activities: Gyrth Oldcastle Poetry Smackdown:

It is not too early to start thinking about your poems for the Smackdown at KASF. Remember this is done in good fun. There is no pressure. It is a good place for novices and others who may wish to start performing their poetry to come and recite. Your poems can be read. Please remember you do not need to write a poem in each category. It is optional. You may write one or more poems at your discretion. Again, the object here is to have fun!

Entry Fee - Write one period poem of any length placing Gyrth Oldcastle as the hero in a folktale. Adapt any folktale or make up your own based on his life, and make him the hero—with his words, with his wit, with his deeds, with his cunning or with his love. This challenge is designed so that those who did not know Gyrth can put him in any story and those who did know Gyrth can tell us about him.
