Their Excellencies

Greetings Lochmere,

His Excellency and I are spending a very late honeymoon and slightly early five year anniversary, out of Kingdom for most of this month. We have met many warm weather actual tropical crabs in our journey while we hear tales of cold back home. We are aware covid policies are changing rapidly so urge everyone to keep up to date and if they have concerns to write to the royals and the seneschal. They have a very difficult time navigating opposed opinions on how policies should look, so my Baronial request is to share your opinion but to do so with the courtesy and kindness that makes Lochmere Lochmere.

We are, at the writing of this letter, looking to be at Defending the Gate and I, Letia will likely be solo for coronation.

We are very much looking forward to Night Under a Fae Moon and having an event in our Barony.

We also want to shout out to Katla for all of her hard work organizing and writing these newsletters as she steps down as chronicler. She has patiently herded forgetful crabs (aka us) and her service and organization has not gone unnoticed.

Looking forward to seeing folks soon.

Yours in service,
Baron Linhart and Baroness Letia

Night Under a Faie Moon

As the residents of the town of Smeewick gather Friday eve at the local Tavern, the Rusty Souse, tales of minor mischief and petty thievery are on everyone's lips. Swords have been found hanging from trees. The left shoes of everyone in town are missing. Fillings of pies have been replaced with flowers and pine fronds. Some members of the populace suspect the faie folk. Are the faie friends? Foes? A little bit of both?

The Barony of Lochmere invites you to join us for an event based in the Tudor English town of Smeewick and inspired by Shakespeare's Midsummer's Night Dream. Whether you call them faie, brownies, sprites, or , they are all around us.

Festivities will start Friday night at 7pm in the main hall and carry through Saturday night. Expect fighting, feasting, and fun.
